Love in slow lane

No one among the literati, in the correct sense of the term literate is likely not to have read about love or seen lovers in action as they appear on the big screen. The land's epics are replete with episodes of love-making by both divinity and mortals. Philosophically, lovers don't have to come face to face but they can occupy the vast space in their hearts as it were. Many poets, in fact countless of them have written their lines in virtually every language spoken, with or without captive script, portraying love in abstract terms and the plight of the two parties in different moods, both excitingly happy and depressingly sad. The famed British poet has been quoted as saying that it is better to have loved and lost than not to have loved at all. The poet-fraternity in all regions of the world seem to agree that love is a many splendored thing. Taking the phenomenon called love on a wider trajectory, the expression that all is fair in war and love, one is prompted to modify the oft-quoted line deleting the word war. To avoid getting lost while writing about love, this column takes a peek at only whatever happens between two genders as they love.

Thanks to advances in electronics, even love gets a kick-start in a wireless system. Otherwise, it all begins with looks, then likes, ... then longing and finally possessing, the sequence seeming to begin and end in a jiffy. Concluding a narrative centred on love between a man and a woman with the words "They married and lived happily ever after" has suffered a time-warp in our times, given the rising number of reports in the media on the two players parting company for different reasons.

A Minister in the current Cabinet of Government of Karnataka, who accepted the Higher Education portfolio after a bout of initial hiccups, has side-stepped his jurisdiction of official duties and responsibilities while advising girl students of a city college to desist from falling in love. He may very well have spoken about the reality that most love marriages end up in either separation or divorce, even in suicide. His bottom-line that students should concentrate on their studies and take care of their parents is sure to earn the Minister unalloyed love of the parents.

Even the Police have taken a pot-shot at the boys found toying with the game of love. The cops have virtually played a parental role in getting the boys to sport modest-looking hairstyle and give up their outlandish hairdo, by paying for the haircut. In sum, the Minister and the cops featured in this column may have put love in slow lane but the youth may not exactly comply.

NEWSBOY PROBLEM: This refers to the problem of determining the optimum level of inventory to maintain for any quickly perishable product. If too much of a perishable product is stacked as inventory, it could cause unnecessary losses due to lack of sales. On the other hand, if too little of it is stored as inventory, it could lead to loss of potential sales. The newsboy problem is named after the common issue faced by vendors selling newspapers. News vendors need to make quick decisions about inventory levels as the demand for newspapers fluctuates daily and consumers generally have no use for a newspaper beyond a day. — In The Hindu.

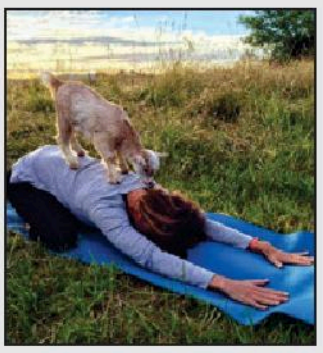
Expensive chili peppers cost $25,000 per kilo

Peru: The Aji Charapita chili pepper, which grows roughly the size of a pea, is priced a whooping $35,000 a kilo.

Native to the jungles of Norther Peru, the Aji Charapita is known as a wild pepper and recently being cultivated for commercial use. Used fresh, this tiny pepper is said to have a strong fruity flavor that gives salsas and sauces a tropical taste, but it is mostly used in powdered form to a bit of spiciness to various dishes. Although still fairly unknown in most Western countries, the Aji Charapita is a highly sought-after treat among chili pepper connoisseurs and five-star restaurant chefs.

Yoga with goats at Oregon farm



Willamette Valley: 'Goat Yoga' can be a bit misleading, but no, it's not yoga for goats, but yoga for humans on a picturesque farm in Oregon where practitioners can relax in the presence of adorable friendly goats.

Lainey Morse, who owns the No Regrets Farm, in Willamette Valley, Oregon, had worked as a photographer for 10 years, but last year, after dealing with some health problems, she decided to quit shooting portraiture and focus on starting a business around her farm.

She has been hosting various outdoor events, and at a recent children's birthday party, one of the parents, who happened to be a yoga instructor, asked if she could hold a class there. Morse agreed, and the class turned out to be a huge hit, with some people driving over 100 miles from Portland to take part.

The No Regrets Farm offers great scenery and fresh air, but the stars of the unique yoga class were the friendly, attention-seeking goats asking to be stroked. Photos taken during the event show the adorable animals – a mixture of Nigerian dwarf and pygmy goats – interacting with participants, lying down next to them or even on top of them.

Night train journey: Suggestions

Sir,

In a long journey by train, night travel is unavoidable. Night journey is easy and comfortable. One can sleep and reach the destination mostly early in the morning. I think the Railways have understood this and therefore provided night trains for the convenience of the travellers.

But the passengers should not feel unsafe in the night train. Therefore, I suggest the following measures to take care of night passengers after going through the letters in this column and having experienced the same plight while travelling in the night train.

1. The Travelling Ticket Examiner (TTE) should be provided a place earmarked in each sleeper coach. There must be one TTE for each sleeper coach. Police personnel should be within his reach. He should possess a gadget to contact the Police without loss of time.

2. The TTE should see that the doors are closed and opened only for the persons possessing reservation tickets.

3. The hawkers should not be allowed inside the compartment for the supply of food etc., after 10 pm.

4. Railways charge for Reservation and Sleeper tickets and therefore it is the bounden duty of the Railways to provide the above facilities to the passengers.

Hope the Railway authorities implement the above and make any other needful arrangements as early as possible for the safety and convenience of the travellers.

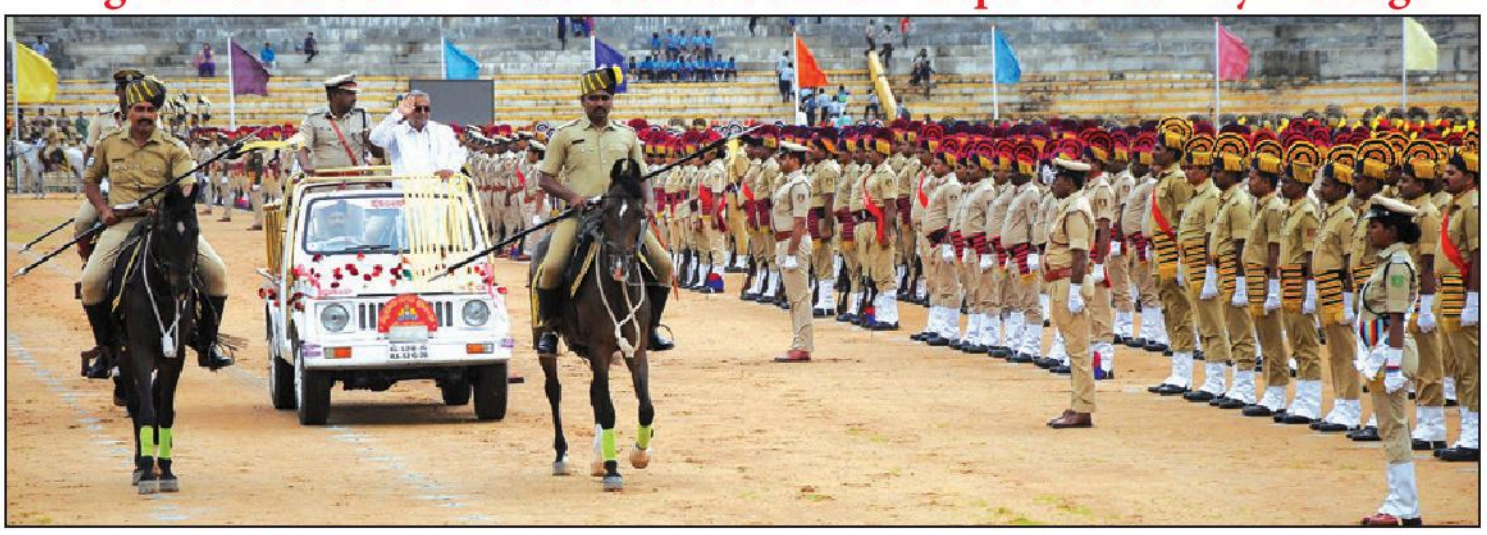
Education is key to fight ills of society: G.T. Devegowda

Higher Education Minister delivers 72nd Independence Day message



Mysuru, Aug.16 (RK&NNN)- "To fight the ills of the society like poverty, ignorance, illiteracy and superstition, a proper education system is the only force that can deliver us from such problems," said Higher Education and District in-Charge Minister G.T. Devegowda (GTD).

Delivering the 72nd Independence Day message after hoisting the National Flag at the Torchlight Parade Grounds in Bannimantap here yesterday, he said that we should set aside the differences and work in the interest of a united country with the motto 'equality for all' and the weak should become strong.

The country should also see that the women are empowered; the exploited class and the specially-abled also have a place in the society. And for this to happen, we have to take an oath to build a culturally and scientifically strong India, he said.

Efforts must be made to see that the country, which is now being ranked among the super powers in the world, becomes stronger economically, socially and educationally. We should protect our inner unity and develop in all spheres and be independent, said GTD. Recalling the contributions of the soldiers who guard the nation day and night sacrificing their lives and the farming community which is striving hard to feed all of us, he said that they are the backbone of the country.

The concept of a united country was not just the dream of the citizens but a penance. People sacrificed their personal comforts and fought for the independence of the country. Movements like Sepoy Mutiny, Salt Sathyagraha, Quit India, all galvanised the countrymen to fight hard for a free country, which was finally achieved through the efforts of tall leaders like Mahamata Gandhi, Jawaharlal Nehru, Subhash Chandra Bose, Baba Saheb Ambedkar and other great freedom fighters like Bhagat Singh, Chandrashekar Azad, Jhansi Rani Lakshmibai, Sarojini Naidu, Rani Chennamma, Sangolli Rayanna and others, he said.

He also said that with such vast human resources in the country, it should be seen that everyone has a job on their hand.

Earlier, he received a guard of honour presented to him by the 28 Platoons led by Reserve Police Inspector, Karnataka Armed Reserve Police N. Sudarshan.

This is for the first time that the Forest Department Women and Men Platoons, led by Deputy Range Forest Officer (DFRO) R. Kavya and DFRO Basavaraju Jigali Koppa respectively, participated in the Independence Day Parade. The Specially-abled children from Karunada Shala were also part of the Parade which attracted everyone's attention.

The other platoons included the Mounted, KSRP, NCC Army Boys, Girls, Jawahar Navodahaya Schools both boys and girls, Bharath Sevadal boys and girls to name a few.

MLAs Tanveer Sait, L. Nagendra, Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, Police Commissioner Dr. A.S. Rao, Superintendent of Police Amit Singh and other officials were present.

Hasiru Karnataka launched

Minister GTD launched 'Hasiru Karnataka,' a programme of the Karnataka Government to increase forest cover in the State, by watering the saplings. Green and tricolour balloons were also released to mark the occasion.

Students from various schools participated in the cultural programmes that followed the Independence Day inauguration.

Armed Forces: First Place: Railway Protection Force; Second Place: Karnataka Police Academy and Third Place: City Armed Reserve Police.

Civil Category: First Place: NCC Airforce; Second Place: Forest Department (Women) and Third Place: NCC Army.

School Section: First Place: Jawahar Navodaya Boys School, Second Place: Jawahar Navodaya Girls School and Third Place: Police Public School.

Now Traffic Police at your doorstep to recover fines

Another drive to seize vehicles without valid insurance from Aug.27

Mysuru, Aug.16 (KS)- The Mysuru City Traffic Police, in a bid to recover fines from offenders who have ignored notices served to them via post, will launch a special drive to recover the same by visiting the houses of the offenders soon.

Dr. A.S. Rao

According to the press release from the office of the City Police Commissioner, the Traffic Police had issued Field Traffic Violation Report (FTVR) notices through post to the offenders based on photographs taken and CCTV footages of cameras installed at various places, as most of the offenders had not received the posts and restrained themselves from paying fines, City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao had instructed DCP Dr. Vikram V. Amathe to conduct a special drive to recover fines from such offenders.

Following instructions, the DCP has formed a team, which has commenced the special drive by knocking the doors of the offenders based on the address in the Registration Certificate (RC) of the vehicle. In case the offenders do not respond to the special drive, such vehicles would be seized.

The City Police Commissioner has urged the public to co-operate and pay traffic fine as soon as they receive FTVR notice through post.

Special drive to seize vehicles without valid insurance from Aug.27: The Mysuru City Traffic Police will be conducting a special drive to seize vehicles without valid insurance from Aug.27.

The crackdown against vehicles without insurance is being launched following order from the Supreme Court issued on March, 2018, making the State Government responsible for payment of compensation to victims of accidents involving vehicles without valid insurance. According to Section 196 of the Motor Vehicles Act 1988, no vehicle can be allowed to ply on road without insurance.

Earlier, the Traffic Police used to penalise vehicle owners who were caught without insurance and used to recommend the RTO to cancel the driver's license. But now, vehicles without valid insurance would be seized and the vehicle would be released only after the owner renews the insurance within the given time and the owner should secure the vehicle's release from the Court.

Apart from this, the Traffic Police will also penalise the owner of the non-insured vehicle and recommend the RTO to cancel the Driving License.

The City Police Commissioner has urged vehicle owners to get their vehicles insured and produce the copy of the same during checking.

Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Expressing devotion sensually

The story of Gajendra Moksha from the Bhagavata Purana speaks of an elephant king, Gajendra, who is in a state of erotica arousal, and is having fun with his herd of cow elephants in a lotus lake in a heady erotic atmosphere. But the pleasure is destroyed by a crocodile that attacks the elephant king and threatens to drown him under water. The elephant king who is used to power suddenly discovers he is helpless and no one can help him. He, therefore, turns to the one force in the universe that is Lord Vishnu. With his trunk he raises a lotus flower and prays to Vishnu and Vishnu immediately comes and rescues him from the dreaded crocodile.

The story is a spiritual allegory: Gajendra representing our mind which is seduced by charms in the material world, embodied as the lotus lake, and the strife of life is represented by the crocodile, liberation from which can only happen through devotion or bhakti, embodied in the lotus flower and raised by the elephant to Vishnu.

The first representation of this story is found in the 1,500-year-old Deogarh temple of Bihar, where we find a snake instead of a crocodile. The classic Sanskrit version is found in the 1,000-year-old Bhagavata Purana. But, 500 years ago, during the Vijayanagar Empire, Potanna retold the story in Telugu and here we find a creative use of the erotic metaphor, that was appreciated in his time, not censored.

The whole scene is rendered erotic with descriptions of the breeze, the moonlight, the coolness of the water, the heady scent of the lotus flower, the buzzing of the bees and butterflies as well as the sounds made by the swans. The sexuality is enhanced by the description of the mighty bull elephant sporting with the cow elephants.

The second level at which eroticism is described is in the relationship between Vishnu and Lakshmi. The story goes that when Gajendra cries out for help, Vishnu has his beloved Lakshmi in his intimate embrace when he suddenly stops paying attention to her, causing her to chuckle. We are told that the Lord did not say a word to his beloved, or straighten his long hair that fell wildly above his ears, or even let go the end of the sari, as he rushed out to save the elephant-devotee.

Later, when Vishnu throws the discus at the crocodile, it is described as the sun-god plunging into the pool to make love to the lady lotus hidden in the lotus pond.

Eroticism, sensuality and romance is thus made a part of devotion. Devotion is not separated from the body. This approach to devotion is sorely missing in stories today. We don't mind vulgarity in secular stories however. But, when a mythological tale is told, storytellers are very careful not to make it remotely erotic or sensual for fear of angering the public who equates any form of sexuality and sensuality with vulgarity. This is revealed in the censor board's relationship with sexuality and sensuality and matters of religion. This is because male monks of India dominate religion and they still read Hindu tales through the outdated Victorian lens.

Listen to your heart and decide

By N.K.A. Ballal,
Retd. Sr. Vice-President, ITDC

A simple story narrated by Gopal Das: A vegetable vendor put up a board near his cart, "Fresh vegetables sold here" to attract new customers to his cart.

Ballal

A man came up to him and said, we have seen you sell vegetables and most of the times it is fresh; so why have you put up a board saying "fresh"? Why do you require this advertisement? Rub off the word, "fresh" from the board. The vendor did so leaving the words "vegetables sold here" on the board.

After some time another man came up and said, arre bhai, we know you are selling vegetables and not fruits; so why have the word "vegetables" in your board? Please wipe off the word vegetable. The vendor complied.

Left on the board now were two words "sold here."

After some time an elderly lady approached him and said, if your are sitting in the market, are you giving vegetables for free? Take off that word "sold" from the board. The vendor did so.

A school boy passing by teased the vendor saying "everyone in the world knows you are sitting here. And not there, why have the word "here" put up in the board ?" The vegetable vendor erased the last word from the board. The board was now clean and empty.

Another person then came up and said, "only a stupid man would keep such a nice board empty. Why don't you write something on that to advertise your vegetables or a special deal of the day ?"

Everybody around has an opinion to make. Everybody around has a suggestion to offer and most often with the best intentions. But if one ends up listening to what everybody else has to say, we forget to do what we are meant to do or inspired to do.

In the noise of others suggestions and opinions, do not lose your voice. Take good advice, but learn the art of sifting the chaff from the grain to ensure that you ultimately follow your own heart.

A simple story, but the real truth. In India, at least every one is an expert in everything. In the eighties I was posted at Calcutta and in the evening sometimes I used to drop in at a small eatery nearby the hotel to take some samosas or singhadas as called in Calcutta homes. The shop had put up some benches in the front for people to sit and have their tea. One day I watched with amazement a man talking animatedly on the foreign policy of the Prime Minister. Curious, I also sat down and heard him out. Later I asked another man sitting next to me as to who was the gentleman giving the discourse. He laughed and told me, "Sir, he is a peon working in a small company nearby. A peon giving lecture on the foreign policy of our Prime Minister!"

One of the prime reasons the work gets stuck in the government offices is the notings on each files. Pages and pages of notings are put up on the files by all and sundry starting from the lowest to the highest. Every body has an opinion and tries to justify that his opinion is right. With such varied opinions, it becomes tough for the top executive to take a decision. So what do they do ? He in turn forms a committee to give a recommendation. When the committee gives a recommendation, the top executive approves the file writing "approved as recommended." Collective responsibility. The smallest of a file going to a Minister for approval will have at least 25 signatures.

That is the reason most of the Ministers always keep an OSD Rank Officer [an IAS Officer from their home State] exclusively to check all the files and put up a small hand written note on the file giving the brief.

Indians by nature are very curious. You are standing inside a temple. Someone will come and ask, "temple ge bandidira ?" How to react to such a comment. A smile and nothing more. A relative of mine from abroad had come to India for holiday. She had a hearing problem and so had put up a small hearing aid. She got sick of every Tom, Dick and Harry including shop-keepers asking as to how she got the problem and some even asking her how much this hearing aid cost ? You walk into a party with a sling. You may have to repeat your story of the accident to at least a dozen guests in the party. Advices then follow. It is worse for a young girl who becomes pregnant. What to eat, what to wear, the advice list is endless. In India, everyone is an expert doctor and very liberal in advice too.

In my neighbourhood, we have a chemist shop where large number of patients come without any prescription from doctors but straight away ask the chemist about their ailment and she happily dispenses medicines. Win-win situation. The patient has saved on the doctors fee and the chemist her extra sale.

On a lighter note, I used to wonder, as to why youngsters used to vanish or quietly slip away, when approached by me. I asked my wife about this and she laughed and told me: "They are all scared of your advices. I have no choice but to bear it day in and day out but they do not." Then I realised that I too have become a typical Indian senior citizen, free advice-giver !

So to summarise, one cannot avoid getting sermons and advices. Listen to all but do what your own heart asks you to do. Take your own decisions so that you alone are responsible for the decisions and not somebody else.

IGRMS displays rare Bronze Hookah

'Exhibit of the Month'

The expo will be open to public at Wellington House on Irwin Road in city till August end

Under the popular museum series 'Exhibit of the Month' of Indira Gandhi Rashtriya Manav Sangrahalaya (IGRMS), Southern Regional Centre (SRC), Mysuru, Farshi,* the Bronze Hookah belonging to the Rajput community of Uttarakhand is kept on display at Wellington House on Irwin Road in city.

The object was inaugurated by IGRMS Officer In-Charge J. Vijay Mohan on Aug.7. The exhibit will be on show throughout the month of August-2018.

The concept of Hookah is thought to have originated in India. Once the province of the wealthy, it was tremendously popular especially during Mughal rule. The use of Hookahs from ancient times in India was not only a custom, but a matter of prestige. Rich and landed classes would smoke Hookahs.

Tobacco is smoked in Hookahs in many villages as per traditional customs. The word Hookah is a derivative of "Huqqa", a Hindustani term. Instead of copper, brass and low quality alloys, manufacturers increasingly use stainless steel and aluminium. Silicone rubber compounds are used for Hookah hoses instead of leather and wire.

The object FARSI (Bronze-made Hookah) was collected from Almora district of Uttarakhand. This item was used by the folk community (Rajput). It is approximately about 75 years old. The object was collected by IGRMS, Bhopal officials from Bhagavan Singh of Almora. Bronze, wood and terracotta materials were used for the preparation of Hookah.

Heavy rains continue to wreak havoc

Scenes from the water-logged Sai Layout at Kushalnagar in Kodagu.

Over 80,000 cusecs of water is being released from Harangi Reservoir in Kodagu and this is threatening areas in Kushalnagar, Koodige, Shirangala, Thorenuru and surrounding areas in Somwarpet. This is for the first time that such an amount of water is being released from Harangi Dam.

The direct effect of water release from Harangi is on the KRS where over 1,23,449 cusecs of water is being released every day. Due to the heavy release, water has reached the inner areas of historical Nimishamba Temple near Srirangapatna. Petty shops inside the temple and its outer areas have been cleared with several shops marooned. The entire temple premises has been barricaded and tourists are banned from entering the waters.

Ranganathittu entry banned

Entry to the Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary has been banned following the increased water release. Likewise, the tourist entry to Muthathi in Malavalli Taluk of Mandya district has been banned following increased water flow. All the roads that lead to Muthathi have been blocked by the Police and the Forest Department.

The Ramakrishna Mutt in Srirangapatna near the Wellesley Bridge has been submerged and the inmates of the Mutt have been evacuated. Entry of bikes and other light motor vehicles on Wellesley Bridge has been banned and Police have been deployed there as the bridge is under threat of being washed away.

Aqueduct Bridge damaged

Asia's first Aqueduct Bridge near Srirangapatna built on the Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway has witnessed damage and deep cracks are seen at the very beginning of the Aqueduct Bridge. Meanwhile, heavy rains in Wayanad district of Kerala has increased the inflow to Kabini Dam in H.D. Kote. The present inflow to the dam is 69,438 cusecs and there is an outflow of 70,000 cusecs. Following the increased outflow, the Suttur Bridge has been completely submerged and the bathing ghats of Srikanteshwara Temple in Nanjangud have been marooned. Devotees have been asked not to venture into water. The ever-busy Mysuru-Nanjangud Highway (NH-766) is likely to be closed if more water is released from Kabini.

Minister, MP visit rain-hit areas

Kodagu in-charge Minister S.R. Mahesh and Mysuru Kodagu MP Pratap Simha visited rain-affected places in Kodagu, particularly Kushalnagar to assess the damage.

Heavy rainfall warning till Aug. 20

The District Administration has warned of more rains till Aug. 20. Isolated heavy to very heavy rain is likely to occur in Kodagu and Mysuru. Preparing for the rain, the Administration and the Fire Department have sent rescue teams to various places.

Narasipur, a 14-member State Disaster Relief Force with their vehicles and equipment have been placed in Nanjangud. Three teams have been sent to Madikeri and Gonikoppal in Kodagu. However, there is no official communication from the administration regarding the requirement of volunteers for flood relief.

3 killed in landslide near Madikeri

Mounds of mud crashed on a house in Katakeri near Madikeri this morning, instantly killing three persons. The victims are Venkataramana, Yashwanth and Pavan. One more person Yathish has been seriously injured and he has been rushed to Madikeri Government Hospital.

Of the dead, Yashwanth worked for the Anti-Naxal Force of Karnataka. The landslide occurred due to heavy rain that has been pounding Kodagu since the last couple of days. Loose soil and boulders crashed on the house, said other residents.

Over 60 people are trapped at Yemmethaalu and Meghathalu villages in Makkandur village and it is feared that many people are buried under landslides. This morning Chandu Gopal, Umesh, Chandravathi and Honnamma were rescued from their house near the place of landslides. Over 20 houses in Makkandur have been washed away and rescue teams are facing severe hardships to rescue the trapped people.

The link between Madikeri and Kushalnagar via Suntikoppa and from Kushalnagar to Koodige has been blocked. Private and KSRTC buses, numbering over 30, have stopped operations. The Madikeri-Kushalnagar Road has witnessed extensive cracks and there is a danger of earth caving in. The road between Kushalnagar and Koodige has been blocked as there is a danger of Koodige Bridge being submerged as over 80,000 cusecs of water is being released from Harangi Dam.

Likewise, the Ponnampet-Thithimathi Road and the Madikeri-Somwarpet Road has been blocked. The link from Somwarpet, Shanthalli and Sakleshpur has been blocked with mounds of mud and rocks lying on the road. The road between Madikeri and Bhagamandala has also been blocked due to landslides.

The Thantipaala and Hattihole rivers are flowing in full spate and landslides have occurred along the course of the river. Over 80 people are feared trapped here and the District Administration has already rescued 20 persons this morning. Over 7 kilometres of hill ranges have collapsed on the edges and the debris are carried away by flowing waters.

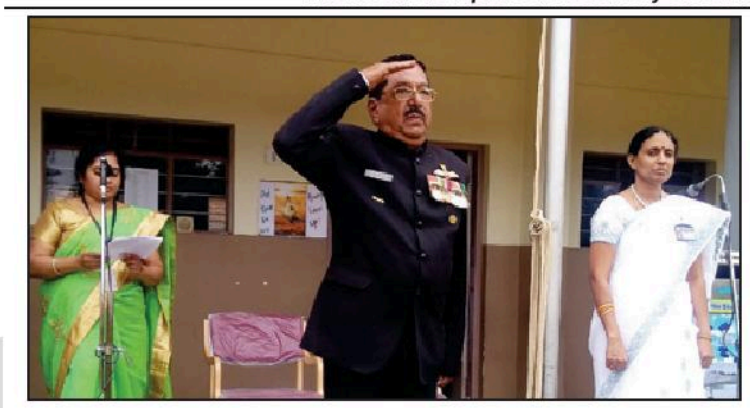
'Join NCC and Armed Forces, contribute towards nation-building'

Wing Commander S.M. Bellary urges students

Picture shows a patriotic feature by the students.



Wing Commander S.M. Bellary (Retd.) is seen receiving the I-Day salute at JSS Public School in Siddarthanagar as Principal B. Latha looks on.

Mysuru, Aug. 16- The premises of JSS Public School in Siddarthanagar wore a festive look during the 72nd Independence Day (I-Day) celebrations yesterday.

Indian Air Force Pilot, Wing Commander S.M. Bellary (Retd.), who was the chief guest, unfurled the National Tricolour and called upon the students to join NCC during their high school level itself to develop leadership qualities and a sense of discipline.

Lauding the institution as one of the finest Public Schools in Mysuru region, Wg. Cdr. Bellary advised the students to strive hard to achieve excellence not only in their studies but also in sports and cultural activities which makes their education complete and added that there was no substitute to discipline and hard work.

Concluding his speech, the Wg. Cdr. urged the students to join the Armed Forces through National Defence Academy (NDA), or after their graduation through CDSE and other modes of selection to become Officers in the Armed Forces.

Urging the students to take up challenging careers in the Armed Forces, he said that serving the Armed Forces was one of the best ways of serving the nation.

While welcoming the gathering, School Principal B. Latha introduced the chief guest as an Air Warrior who participated in 1965 and 1971 Indo-Pak Wars and also Commanded No. 4 (Karnataka) Air Squadron NCC at Mysuru four decades ago (1973-1976).

She also mentioned that the Wg. Cdr. was posted at Air Force Selection Board, Mysore, during 1986-1990 as Group Testing Officer to assess candidates for inducting them into Indian Air Force as Commissioned Officers.

Thrisha of 10th standard gave an impressive I-Day speech in English explaining the sacrifices made by Freedom Fighters in liberating India from the colonial rule and gaining Independence.

Varsha, another 10th standard student, delivered a speech in Kannada explaining the struggles the patriotic freedom fighters underwent and countless of them sacrificing their lives to achieve Independence to our country.

During the celebrations, students sang melodious patriotic songs, performed colourful dances to patriotic songs. An eye catching group yoga exercise was exhibited by tiny-tots.

Saniha S. Jain of 10th standard proposed a vote of thanks.

Kodagu Sainik School gets War Tank

Kushalnagar, Aug. 16 (AG)- Major General (retd.) VPS Bhakuni VSM, recently unveiled the War Tanker T55 at the Kodagu Sainik School in Kushalnagar thus realising the dreams of the cadets.

This War Tank was manufactured by Russia in 1940 and the Tankers were used by Russia in the Second World War. Later in 1960, the Indian Army adopted the Tanker T55, which played an important role during the Indo-Pak War in 1970. During the war, it was deployed at the border district of Fazilka in Punjab.

The Tank is equipped with main armament comprising a 100mm rifled gun with a hit range of over 14 kms in addition to mounted 7.62mm and 12.7mm machine guns used as aircraft weapons. For the first time the cadets were seeing an actual Battle Tank.

Speaking on the occasion, the Maj. General encouraged the cadets to utilise the facilities available in the camps and take the responsibility of guiding their juniors too.

Ex-cadet Yamnoori said, "It is a dream of every cadet to see and drive a Tanker. But it feels happy when my school gets a War Tank T55 and I am happy for my juniors who will be encouraged by seeing the War Tanker."

Cricket Talk

Indians drubbed at the Lord's

Hamara Kutta Hamara Galimein SHER

Cricket in England — many a time — is reminiscent of this. 'Grounds-men prepare pitches diligently. Out-fields are lush green with overnight haircuts, moods in dressing rooms are upbeat, spectators are expectant of competitive game, umpire calls out 'PLAY' and it starts raining. Though not verbatim, the 2nd Test at the Lord's was not very different. Englishmen yet again stamped supremacy in the test while our boys; yet again; succumbed to the accuracy of the English pace battery, rather incompetently.

Imagine, Adil Rashid was called back for 'Red-Ball' cricket and was hardly used in the first innings and not a ball in the second. Interestingly, the two batsmen who won the hearts of millions were Ashwin and Woakes; both of them being 'Bowlers.' Woakes maiden test hundred at the Lord's was brilliant and blemish-less while Bairstow's strokeful knock of 93 laid the foundation for their match-winning-partnership. He richly deserved a hundred. The two of them and young Sam struck the ball confidently.

Who was better — 'Stokes' or 'Woakes'? Stokes bowled brilliantly in the first Test and his absence at Lord's was hardly felt as Woakes stood staunchly by Jimmy, Broad and Sam to traumatise tentative blades of our guys. If Stokes is well over the 'Seven Vodkas' in the Court case, he could well replace Rashid in the 3rd Test.

Our current batsmen are 'Tigers' in our own back-yard and in the sub-continent. They lack application to evolve on the international platform. As Ganguli mentioned, ADAPTING to local conditions, ADOPTING techniques to the needs of prevailing conditions and IMPROVING with times seem imminent for a good contest. It is not as though India is playing their 1st series in England. Debutant Ganguli scored back-to-back hundreds at the Lord's and Trent Bridge while Dravid has done extremely well in England. Our current ones look all at sea. Diffidence was writ large on the faces of Vijay, KLR, Pujara, Rahane and DK —whereas Pandya and Ashwin met the ball more competently. KLR's dismissals in both the innings have shocked keen observers. Per Ganguli, youngsters need the urge to get the eyes in, work the balls initially around legs covers and gear up for big scores than merely blocking the balls in ugly approaches/ styles. Well, coffins of the diffident FIVE seem to be waiting for the nails.

Vijay seems a spent force, KLR needs a psychologist, DK looks school-boyish, Rahane needs the determination of a Richie Richardson/ a Williamson/ a Damien Martin/ a Steve Waugh to steer the middle order. Merely shuffling the 16 to get the 11 for the 3rd test looks like shuffling jokers in a pack of cards. Tough talking by Ravi Shastry seems essential.

Well, cricket is a funny game. On their day, Eskimos may beat the English. A decade ago, a weak Zimbabwe has beaten us. So, the hopes are still there for our boys to spring back and demonstrate to the world emphatically — 'WE ARE BACK IN THE SERIES.'

Good luck to our boys.

Hunsur double murder case

Ex-Corporator Mahadesh, seven others acquitted

Mysuru, Aug.16- The Karnataka High Court on Tuesday acquitted former Corporator C. Mahadesh alias Avva Madesha and seven of his accomplices in a double murder that took place at Hunsur ten years ago. While four of them are in the prison, four others are on bail.

Mahadesh and seven others, including his brother Manju, had allegedly hacked to death Rajesh alias Gandhi and Ramesh from Paduvarahalli at a farm house in Hunsur on May 14, 2008.

The Second Additional District and Sessions Court here on Feb.26, 2016 had convicted Mahadesh, his brother Manju and accomplices Chandru alias Chandu, Ravi alias Vontikoppal Ravi, N. Shivakumar alias Kalappa, Ramesh Babu, Ambareesh alias ambi and Karthik and sentenced them to life imprisonment.

Mahadesh and others had appealed against the verdict in the High Court. The High Court, which heard the plea, acquitted them for want of evidence.

Judge Vijaykumar M. Anand Shetty had also ordered the Police to register a perjury case against Sunil, Devendra, Srinivas and Ashok for allegedly turning hostile in the later stages of the trial. Also, Shivanischith alias Shivu, the ninth accused in the case, who turned approver, had been acquitted.

The Judge had also imposed a penalty of Rs.3 lakh on Mahadesh, the prime accused and Rs.1 lakh each on seven others.

Mahadesh and his accomplices, armed with machete and other lethal weapons, had allegedly entered a farm house at Hunsur and had brutally hacked Rajesh and Ramesh to death on the night of May 14, 2008. Mahadesh and his accomplices were absconding for some time after the brutal hacking and were arrested by the Hunsur Town Police after some time.

While four of the accused will be out of prison following their acquittal by the High Court, four other accused, including prime accused Mahadesh alias Avva Madesha, his brother Manju, N. Shivakumar alias Kalappa and Chandru alias Chandu cannot walk out of jail as they have been booked under KCOCA for the murder of rowdy-sheeter Devu alias Devendra that took place at Paduvarahalli in May 2016. There are a total of 29 accused in the case and the hearing in the case is scheduled to begin from Aug.18, it is learnt.

After MCC Corporator C. Mahadesh of JD(S) was convicted and sentenced to life by the 2nd Addl. District and Sessions Court in Feb. 2016, the Mysuru City Corporation had terminated his membership, following which a by-election was held for the MCC Ward he had represented in June last year (2017). SBM Manju of the JD(S) had retained the seat for the party by defeating his nearest rival K. Madesh of the BJP.

WORD OF THE DAY

Gaffer

Pronunciation: GAF-er.

Meaning: An old man — compare gammer; a British : foreman, overseer; a lighting electrician on a motion-picture or television set.
Origin: Though movie and cinema buffs associate gaffer with Hollywood, the word actually pre-dates motion pictures by about 300 years. The first recorded use of gaffer dates from the 16th century, when it was used as a title of respect for an older gentleman. Later it was used as a generic noun for any elderly man, and then it picked up the sense "foreman" (still used in British English), perhaps because the foreman was the most experienced and, most likely, the oldest person in a work crew. Today gaffer is usually applied to the head lighting electrician on a movie set. The gaffer's assistant is called the best boy.
Examples: Before the first day of shooting, the gaffer spent several days setting up all the lights. "There were no gaffers or best boys or Foley artists who called Wilmington home. Many folks didn't even know what all those words meant." — Amy Hotz, The Star-News (Wilmington, North Carolina).

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Baby blues

Meaning: Feelings of depression or anxiety, experienced by some mothers following childbirth.

Origin: Had anyone mentioned 'baby blues' prior to WWII they would have been thought to have been talking about colour — specifically the colour of someone's eyes. Most babies are born with blue eyes due to a lack of the melanin pigment until sometime after birth. The use of the term 'baby blues' to mean eyes is a natural development, which came about in the USA in the early 20th century; for example, this from the American author Rex Ellingwood Beach's novel Winds of Chance, 1918: "Fix your baby blues on the little ball and watch me close."
In the 1940s 'baby blues' began to be used with the meaning we now usually give it, that is, post-natal depression.
In his best-selling baby care book Expectant Motherhood, 1940, Nicholson J. Eastman wrote: "Most common among such reactions, perhaps, is what is colloquially called the 'Baby Blues'."

Café Cornucopia: a unique space in Mysuru

Recently, Mysuru has witnessed a huge growth in number of cafes to relax, unwind and taste different cuisines. So how did it all start? We visited cafe Cornucopia which is considered, by many, as the first outdoor space to make the concept of cafes as mainstream in Mysuru back in 2014. Located in a quiet residential neighbourhood of Vijayanagar 3rd Stage, this cafe probably will be a little hard to find the first time, giving it the impression of a secret hidden place. It's only after you have entered inside, you realize how big the space actually is. The cuisine is primarily Continental paired with varieties of wine. Mexican dishes are one of the crowd favourites, munched often between sipping glasses of wine.

"It all started when we had the chance to bring a couple of abandoned shipping containers in early 2014." recalls Nikhil Madhusudhan, founder of Cafe Cornucopia. "We were intrigued by the possibility of creating a cafe out of it since Mysuru didn't have any place to offer a unique experience at that time." The pieces of puzzle came together when he brought together a team of architects and artists for this project. The result is a stunning piece of architecture, nicely blended with vivid colours of flowering plants. One of the first things which will draw the visitors' eye is the beautiful stone wall supporting one of the shipping containers, with pretty teal coloured windows giving a glimpse on what is on the other side. The space also has an open air amphitheater which hosts several weekend music gigs.

"We want to promote art, music and non commercial films through this space to create new experiences for our people of Mysuru on a weekly basis. We always have been open for collaboration to make this happen."
